Telecommunications Expense Management Leader Posts 744.8 Percent Sales Growth

ATLANTA, September 13, 2007 – BroadSource, Inc. (www.broadsource.com), the leading telecommunications expense management company, announced today that it was named to Inc. Magazine's 26th annual ranking of the 500 fastest growing private companies in the United States. BroadSource ranked 385 out of 500, with 744.8 percent sales growth. The ranking appears in the magazine's September 1 issue.

Inc. Magazine has ranked the nation's leading entrepreneurial firms since 1982. The 2007 list measured revenue growth from 2003 through 2006 and revealed telecommunications as one of the top growth industries, with the category of companies growing an average of 1,056.5 percent.

Inc. editor Jane Berentson said, "If you want to find out which companies are going to change the world, look at the Inc. 500. These are the most innovative, dynamic, fast-growth companies in the nation, the ones coming up with solutions to some of our most intractable ills, creating systems that let us conduct business faster and easier, and manufacturing products we soon discover we can't live without."

Atlanta-based BroadSource provides telecommunications expense management tools to middle-market enterprises seeking to increase visibility, enhance operational performance, and gain control over their telecommunications services, providers and equipment so they ultimately save money.

BroadSource is the only telecommunications expense management company to offer OneSource, a distinct technology software and professional services combination that gives companies the capability to effectively track and control communications contracts, tools, services and users in a secure hosted environment.

“Being named one of Inc.’s fastest growing companies is a testament to our vision and the value we deliver our clients every day,” said BroadSource CEO Steven Neel. “As Inc. confirms in its rankings, our industry is primed for explosive growth.
